ARTHUR H. JAMES TAKES OATH AS GOVERNOR OF PENNA. TODAY

NEW REPUBLICAN CHIEF EXECUTIVE PLEDGES UTMOST TO RESTORE PROSPERITY TO COMMONWEALTH, AND TO BANISH UNEMPLOYMENT; PROMISES TO DIVORCE RELIEF AND POLITICS

Industry Will Be Given New Hope, Is Pledge of Former
"Breaker-Boy" — Asks Aid of All Businessmen —
Cheering Throgs Hall Inauguration — Special
Trains Pour Crowds Into Capital City

By Raymond Wilcoxe

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 17.—(INS)—Superior Court Judge Arthur H. James today was sworn in as Pennsylvania's 34th Governor, bringing to a close a brief four-year interim of Democratic rule and signaling the end of the State's "Little New Deal" Administration.

To a cheering throng which hailed the inauguration of the former "breaker-boy" of Pennsylvania's hard coal region, the new Republican Chief Executive pledged his utmost to restore prosperity to the State and to banish unemployment. Relief, he said, would be divorced from politics; industry would be given new hope.

Placing his emphasis on employment, the newly-sworn Governor told the massed thousands before him that "I hope to see employment grow steadily until every idle man who wants a job can have one. To accomplish that, we need the aid and confidence and forbearance of business men throughout the State. The Administration is going to try to help industry and, in return, industry must try to help the State."

To help restore business in the State, Governor James proposed as one of his first official acts the creation of a new Department of Commerce to bring about greater co-operation between business and government.

The New Deal, nationally as well as State, came in for pointed criticism from Pennsylvania's new Chief Executive who termed "over-spending only another name for an evil philosophy of government which is as old as civilization—and which never has been known to work successfully, the theory of inflation."

"It remained for the New Deal philosophy to re-dress inflation and to renew its pump-priming," caustically commented Governor James, adding that what was needed now was private, not public, pump-priming.

Governor James was sworn in at noon by Chief Justice John W. Kephart of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court on the main steps of the Capitol. With him on the inaugural stand as he took the oath of office was the outgoing Democratic Governor, George H. Earle, who made his departure as soon as the new Chief Executive began his inaugural address, members of the Supreme and Superior Courts and members of the General Assembly.

Previous to his own inauguration, Governor James officiated at the inauguration of Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis in the Senate Chamber, thus becoming the first Governor in the State's history to perform that function.

One of the largest crowds in inaugural history thronged Harrisburg to witness the return of the Keystone State to its Republican moorings after

"Color Photography" Theme Is Thoroughly Enjoyed

ANDALUSIA, Jan. 17.—The largest group of the season attended the meeting of Andalusia Parent-Teacher Association, last evening, in the school building.

William Brink, a member of Olney high school faculty, held the attention of the audience with a talk on "Color Photography As A Hobby," and his display of pictures.

Charles Wenner, president, appointed seven members to attend the P. T. A. birthday party in Bensalem Township high school on February 16th.

Miss Helen Miller reported that the lunch room is now in operation, and the children are being served hot lunches at a nominal cost. Miss Helen Ackerman's room won the P. T. A. attendance banner.

A committee was appointed to consider a play project proposed by the King Theatre Guild.

BUCKS COUNTY TO BE REPRESENTED AT CAPITAL

Morning With Delegation
Of Men and Women

WILL BE IN THE PARADE

Bucks County is to be well represented at the inauguration of Arthur H. James today as Governor of Pennsylvania. Nearly 200 men and women from various sections of Bucks County, and particularly from the lower end of the county left Trevoze this morning at 7.45 for Harrisburg.

There were delegations from Bristol Borough, Bristol Township, Bensalem Township, Lower Southampton, Doylestown and numerous other communities in the county.

The special car was routed from Trevoze via the Reading Railroad to the North Philadelphia station of the Reading, where the car was attached to a special train. It was expected that the train would reach Harrisburg at about 11 o'clock, and will participate in the parade.

State Senator Howard I. James, of Bristol, left for the capital yesterday afternoon at one o'clock.

CELEBRATION PLANNED BY S. LANGHORNE GROUP

Second Year of Activity Will Be Commenced At
Feb. Meeting

MEMBERSHIP GROWING

SOUTH LANGHORNE, Jan. 17.—Plans for the future were outlined, and the work accomplished during its first year of existence, when a session of the Associated Business Men of South Langhorne, took place here.

The dinner meeting at the Highway Grill was participated in by 24 members and their guests.

John Lappan, president, asked for committees' reports, and announced that election will take place at the February meeting, when the second year of the organization will be officially opened. In view of the anniversary a program in celebration is planned. Joseph Keating was named to lead the committee which will arrange the entertainment, that affair to be at Sodano's Restaurant.

Three new members were reported for consideration, namely, Paul Sauerby, Hulmeville; Nathan Levine and Joseph Rubino, South Langhorne. Frank Sodano, in telling of roadside signs agreed upon, reported that one has been erected at one approach to the borough, and others are to be placed.

The group considered a letter that had been ordered filed at the last meeting. This was from Postmaster Charles Doyle, and it related to the alleged deplorable condition of the fronts of the properties of the post office and of Jacob Pfeifer, who owns the garage formerly occupied by the Metting Chevrolet Company. In his letter Mr. Doyle asked the business men to take some action or make some suggestions to have the situation remedied. James Fairweather suggested that since it was to the interest of every business man to have sidewalks, it might be well to have the group take some action. Joseph Keating stated the State Highway Department, in widening the highway last year, did not pay damages on that side of the road since it claimed it had the right of way. Mr. Keating stated the State Highway Department will probably do nothing in the way of sidewalks for the short stretch and that if the borough should take it upon itself to make the necessary improvements it would be necessary to change the grade for the sidewalks. The group felt it was Mr. Doyle's duty to make any improvements himself because Mr. Pfeifer had been reported to be asking for bids to lay sidewalks in front of his property.

FROM THIS there is no escape—that is, unless the bridge is to be taken off entirely and an unimpeded rush toward crude inflation permitted. In the end we must come to some form of sales tax, at the mere suggestion of which in 1932 Mr. Roosevelt professed himself "horrified." Before that, however, in all probability the La Follette "broadening - the - base" plan, greatly increasing the number of taxpayers by lowering the exemptions, will be adopted.

IF THIS Administration could bring itself to be realistic instead of demagogic in this business of taxation it long ago would have adopted one or the other of these plans. Actually, the finances of the nation cry aloud for them both. The reasons it shrinks from either are perfectly clear and completely political. They can be simply summed up. The great appeal of the New Deal is to those who, having no assets of their own, applaud unlimited Federal spending on the theory that they are getting something for nothing and the rich must foot the bill.

IT, of course, is a false assumption, but it is the basis of the President's political strength. The overwhelming bulk of the people who pay taxes are against him and his policies. No one disputes

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

In an effort to collect more of the delinquent borough, school and county taxes, Morrisville Council and the School Board has authorized Tax Collector Neal Nolan to issue new tax bills to all those who have unpaid taxes. Fifteen days will be allowed and after the deadline steps will be taken to make levies on the personal property of all delinquents. Sale signs will be posted and sales will be conducted according to law.

Collector Nolan has announced that those who owe taxes on their property can make arrangements with him to pay on the installment plan either weekly, semi-monthly or monthly, if they will call at the tax office. Nolan stated he is very anxious to co-operate with anyone desiring to pay their taxes and if they will call at his office

MORRISVILLE FIREMEN ASK HIGHER TAX RATE

Request Borough Council For
An Increase of a Half
Mill for 1939

RATE REDUCED IN 1938

MORRISVILLE, Jan. 17.—Common Council, at an adjourned meeting this week, will have many important issues to consider before adoption of the annual budget and fixing the 1939 tax rate.

In their request for an increase of a half-mill in the fire tax, members of the Union and Capitol View companies point out that the rate was reduced last year, and with the cut and the amount of unpaid taxes, the money produced by the one mill rate is not sufficient for them to meet their requirements. The law permits Council to fix a rate of from one to three mills, and at one time Council levied three mills when the companies were making large payments on new fire apparatus.

Members of Council say that since the fire companies no longer have large obligations they feel that one mill should carry their needs. They point out that during 1938 each fire company received from the borough $2,885, or a total of $5,770 for the two companies.

Another matter which may have a bearing on the budget is a police car which the police committee is seeking. The members hold that with such a car more efficiency will be had from the police department, which now uses a motorcycle. The committee members point out that with a police radio car anyone wishing a police officer could telephone a central place and the call would be radioed to the car no matter where it may be, and the officer could immediately answer that call.

Other matters being considered are the automatic traffic lights for Pennsylvania Avenue and Bridge Street, North Pennsylvania and Trenton avenues and Bridge Street and Delmor Avenue, and also a new road scraper for the street department. In the proposed budget $3,200 was set up for a new scraper, but some of the councilmen are asking whether the old machine cannot be reconditioned and made to do for another year.

Council has been petitioned by the Highland Park Civic Association to consider the street improvements in that section when making up the annual budget.

he feels sure that satisfactory arrangements can be made.

Because the problems of youth of Bucks County depend upon the proper development of the county, elimination of slum areas, etc., the Women's International League at their forum at the Doylestown Inn went on record as in favor of a Planning Board. Mrs. Martha Woolley, executive secretary of the Bucks County Association, presented an analysis of the necessity for an aroused, intelligent and concerted action to prevent destruction of the beauty and other assets of Bucks county.

Quakertown Borough Council and the school directors were guests of the American Legion, District Deputy Paul Sine, Perkase, was also present, and the guest speaker was Mace C. Lerdham, Willow Grove, chairman of the State community service committee of the Legion.

President Pease, of Council, spoke briefly on the borough manager system, and Supervising Principal Joseph S. Neidig on vocational training. Musical entertainment was provided by Lowell Boorse, Joseph Puchta, Leonard Musselman, Al Oxenford and Henry Rhea.

The post gave twelve metal safety signs to the borough. The signs bear this wording: "Drive Carefully, Protect Our Children." Last night the post members journeyed to Doylestown to meet with the County Seat post.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the People National Bank and Trust Company of Langhorne was held at the bank at which time 10,617 ballots were cast out of a possible 12,500.

After the closing of the polls the following directors were elected to serve for the ensuing year: Henry Lovett, Samuel P. Knight, Henry C. Parry, Alfred M. Wildman, Clinton M. Smith, Gage B. Ellis and Thomas E. Coe, Jr.

William F. Hibbs was elected chairman of the meeting and Eric G. Oliver was secretary. The tellers of the election were James M. Vansant, William F. Hibbs and Eric G. Oliver. Harry W. Spencer acted as proxy.

The cashier, Thomas E. Coe, Jr., made a report to the stockholders which showed the splendid condition of the institution and progress made during 1938.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Henry Lovett, president; Alfred M. Wildman, vice-president; Thomas E. Coe, cashier.

BRISTOL'S FIRE LOSS SHOWS BIG DECREASE

Total Loss Here During 1938
Is Given As Only $1946 by Chief Clifford Hagerman

LOWEST IN 15 YEARS

Bristol's fire loss in 1938 dropped to $1,946, according to the annual report of Chief Clifford Hagerman of the Bristol Consolidated Fire Department. This is the lowest fire loss in Bristol for the past 15 years at least. The next lowest loss occurred in 1935 when the total loss due to fire was $2,745.97. In 1

MAY WORK BOTH WAYS

Psychiatry has come to play an important role in education during the last few years, but thus far it has been applied only to the determination of the intelligence quotient of the pupils, their classification and the angle of their relationship to the rest of society, and the preparation of the course of study most likely to be helpful. A radical step in the field of mental hygiene is proposed in a report on the school health program of New York State by Dr. C. E. A. Winslow of Yale University, who recommends that "all institutions for teacher training" shall be given psychiatric tests before being permitted to teach.

This revolutionary idea seems fair enough. Scholarship is not the only requisite for teaching. The personality of the teacher is also of great importance. The irascible, the prejudiced, the mentally jaundiced, the ill-tempered, the vindictive, the unstable person on the teacher's dais is a bad influence in the lives of school children during their impressionable years.

Dr. Winslow and his assisting committee believe "there" is no single problem of greater importance for the protection of the health of the children of New York or for the advancement of sound education than the selection of an adequate type of personnel.

There can be no question of the truth of such a statement. Whether psychiatry is the way to find the adequate type may be another question. But what is sauce for the pupil is sauce for the teacher, and the plan suggested by Dr. Winslow seems likely to win strong support.

NOT SO DIZZY

The boy grows older. He has been known to the world of baseball as Dizzy Dean, but there was nothing dizzy about his latest performance. If this keeps up, the writing lads who make up the trick names for heroes of the diamond will have to drop the Dizzy and think up something much more sedate.

For several years, the baseball news preceding the opening of the playing season has been enlivened by long-drawn-out salary controversies between Dean and club officials but this year the twirler scrawled his name on the doctored line after a four-minute chat with one of the Chicago Cubs executives. "That was the quickest contract I've signed since I've been in baseball," says the chap who has been one of the most mercurial figures in baseball since the days of Rube Waddell.

Incidentally, his salary is rumored to be $20,000 a year. That figure may have had something to do with the new development, an argumen clincher, in view of Dean's performance, or lack of it, last season.

"You have the same chance of being struck by lightning as you have of becoming a millionaire," says an insurance actuary, trying to still our fears, and succeeding.

"In Belgium, a ham-and-egger demands $1,000 a year for every citizen, nine months' vacation, and free rent, heat and light." What—and no California sunshine?

The films don't pretend to follow history exactly, and in the case of Cardenas of Mexico will doubtless remove the respectable white collar and put him on a horse.

Training a statesman takes time. No layman can give reporters a satisfactory answer without saying anything.

MAMMOTH TOMATOES

PORTLAND, Ore. — (INS) — Tomato vines 20 feet high with fruit weighing two pounds each have been developed by two Portland agricultural chemists, Karl Stokland and Boyd Hamilton. The new method is called the "waterwick system." It is a simplification of the familiar "tank-farming" method in which plants grow with roots dangling in a chemical mixture. It calls for flowers and vegetables to grow their normal root structures in a special rock-foam solution that has a property of capillary action.

The Great Game of Politics

that, clearly any law which would increase the number of taxpayers would lessen the number of New Dealers, strengthen opposition to the pump-priming policy and diminish the Roosevelt following. That is exactly why the Administration has not considered a sales tax and why the White House weight has at previous sessions blocked Senate passage of the La Follette plan. That is why neither of these sound methods of raising revenue will be sponsored this time by any Administration fiscal authority—and every informed person in Washington knows it.

INSTEAD, the Treasury has plans, soon to be revealed, which it believes will get the $550,000,000 additional Mr. Roosevelt asks for armament and farm benefits this year without incurring any political risk worth mentioning. It is conceded even by the Administration experts that rates cannot be further raised on the higher-bracket incomes, as these are already at —some say beyond—the point where the law of diminishing returns begins to operate. However, it is asserted, this is not true concerning incomes from $10,000 to $80,000. Here, they gleefully say, is a great deal of fat which can be fried. Hence, the idea is to raise rates on the $10,000-to-$80,000 fellows very steeply indeed. At the same time the levies on inheritances will be increased and the $40,000 exemption both for estates and insurance lowered.

THUS, it is claimed, something not far from an additional $500,000,000 can be raised without really losing many votes. For example, there were in the whole country last year only 230,000 persons who paid taxes on incomes from $10,000 to $80,000 and not more than 13,000 estates which paid Federal inheritance tax at all. There isn't, so far as the New Deal strategists are concerned, the slightest objection to soaking these as much as the traffic will stand. In the first place, there are not enough of them to be really dangerous politically. In the second place, they are ninety-nine per cent. against the New Deal anyhow. They will squeal, of course, but what of it?

THAT IS the way the palace politicians who have helped evolve the new Treasury tax ideas, and are enthusiastic for them, argue. Whether the suggested rates can be put through the Congress remains to be seen, but the chances appear good. However, a good deal depends upon Senator Pat Harrison, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, who has a few tax ideas of his own. It also depends upon the temper of the Senate, a majority of which two years ago favored the La Follette plan and would have put it through if it had not been strong-armed by Administration leaders.

THERE is this to be said about the present Treasury scheme. With the incomes above $80,000 already taxed to the point where revenue would be reduced rather than increased by raising rates, the new proposals, if enacted, will exhaust the last remaining fertile field of the well to do. When that has been drained, as it will be, there will be nothing left except to lower the exemptions and adopt the sales tax. And when that happens the word economy, now fallen into disuse, will be restored to the political vocabulary of our rulers, and perhaps there will be enough sore taxpayers to have some effect upon the politicians. The smarter of the "Janisaries" know all this, but they cynically say "Let the fellow who comes after Roosevelt worry about that."

ADVERTISING

--a service to YOU

Advertising renders an important service by bringing to you the show windows and price tags of the nation. In the Columns of this newspaper all through the year, you can discover and consider the things you want to buy. Thus you need not search through a hundred shops or pay more than you should.

The rule of advertising is simple. The more people know about the merit of a product, the more people buy it. The greater the volume of sales, the less it costs to manufacture. Savings in producing mean either lower prices to the consumer or an even greater value the next time you buy. This saves you money.

So advertising is more than a means for selling goods—it's a service to you!

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND

Expecting a continuation of California's usual sunshine, a company numbering more than a hundred left the Hal Roach Studios for location at the Isthmus on Catalina Island where opening sequences of "There Goes My Heart" which comes to the Grand Theatre on Tuesday were to be filmed.

Shooting of two episodes was on the schedule; the first, a fishing scene with Virginia Bruce rowing about the harbor of some resort on the Riviera; the second, her arrival on a luxurious yacht in New York harbor about four o'clock in the morning. In this scene Fredric March, as a newspaper reporter, is tossed off her boat into the sea by one of her stalwart attendants.

For three successive days at Catalina, clouds enshrouded Old Sol more successfully than fans do Sally Rand. Gloom hung over the location and over the idle company. The New York harbor scene fitted admirably into the grabiness of the seascape, but there wasn't a glimmer of sun to light up the water with the prescribed Mediterranean sparkle.

On the fourth day, equally dull and gray, Milton H. Bren, executive vice-president in charge of production, had an inspiration. He inserted a line of dialogue which made the situation tailored to fit the vagaries of the weather man.

will please any and all movie-goers. The star of the comedy-drama, Herman Brix, gives the same speedy performance that audiences have come to expect from him.

The story is good, and, besides Brix, a real galaxy of acting talent has given worthy attention to their roles. You'll especially like the way that Joan Barclay, Monte Blue, and Jack Mulhall handle their assignments in this fine feature.

The toughest and most hard-boiled men on earth—the soldiers of the French Foreign Legion—revolt against their leader because of his cruelties, oppression and tyranny. They hate their captain with a deadly hate which causes them to mutiny and yet, they respect him because of his bravery and because he is "a Soldier!"

That is the theme of Columbia's new action film, "Adventure in Sahara," which features Paul Kelly, Lorna Gray and C. Henry Gordon at the Bristol Theatre today. Said to be one of the most colorful and dramatic narratives ever told about the dare-devils of the Legion, "Adventure in Sahara" was filmed in authentic desert locations, with hundreds of expert riders playing the roles of legionnaires and Arabs.

WILKINS-SHAPCOTT NUPTIAL CEREMONY OCCURS SATURDAY

Rev. W. W. Williams Officiates At Service In Andalusia Church

ANDALUSIA, Jan. 17.—On Saturday afternoon at two o'clock in the Church of the Redeemer, Miss Margaret Shapcott, Eddington, was united in marriage to John W. Wilkins.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. W. Williams in the presence of the immediate families of the couple. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Irene Shapcott, and the groom by Louis Tomlinson, Andalusia.

The bride wore a blue velvet street dress with small blue hat. The bridesmaid wore a wine colored street dress with hat to match. Both wore corsages of gardenias.

After spending the week-end in New York, Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins will reside in Eddington.

Much Building Done In Doylestown In 1938

During 1938 the major new buildings constructed in Doylestown included 12 garages, a $2,000 service station, a new hospital, and new movie house, and six houses.

In February construction was begun on two $1,000 garages and a $2,000 service station. One new $1,000 garage was built in March. In April work was begun on a $1,000 garage and $35,000 hospital. In May two $1,000 garages were built. In June work was begun on the $30,000 movie house.

In August construction was begun on a house and garage for $2,000 and a $5,000 house. In September a $1,000 garage was built. Two garages, one for $300 and another for $100, were built in October.

In November two garages, one for $500 and the other for $100, and a house and garage for $5,000, were begun. In December work was begun on two $3,000 houses.

There were no new building operations carried on in January and July. Alterations reached their peak in January when they amounted to $11,000 and in September when they totaled $6,400. The 1938 monthly schedule of alterations in Doylestown is as follows:

January, $11,000; February, $2,000;

March, $4,100; April, $5,250; May, $4,000; June, $1,550; July, $3,800; August, $50; September, $6,400; October, $5,150; November, $3,200; December, $3,150.

Building permits for alterations and new buildings were issued as follows:

January, 5; February, 4; March, 5; April, 10; May, 13; June, 4; July, 4; August, 3; September, 6; October, 15; November, 10; December, 7.

A permit for the erection of a sign was issued in July and a permit for the erection of a steel tower was issued in the Fall.

Unique among the alterations were the conversion of a barn into a house by Hinstad for $2,000 in October, and remodeling of the Clemens farmhouse for $4,000 in September.

BENSALEM TO CLASH WITH NEW HOPE V. AT CORNWELLS TONIGHT

Coach John Slaven's Boys To Meet New Hope High Quintet

IS POSTPONED GAME

Only League Game Tonight Is Between Morrisville and Buckingham

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Jan. 17.—The only basketball tilt in this vicinity this evening will be played on the Bensalem Owls' court, when Coach John Slaven's boys clash with the New Hope High quintet in varsity and J. V. games.

This contest was originally scheduled for last Friday evening, but was postponed because of the inclemency of the weather. Since Bensalem had this date open they promptly filled it by re-scheduling the boys of Coach Clyde Davis.

The only league game on this evening's slate pits the Morrisville Bulldogs against the Buckingham Buccaneers, up on the Buc's floor. Coach John Hoffman's boys hope to gain equal footing with Bristol in the league standings at the present time by downing the Buccaneers. On the other hand, the Bucs are playing home, and with a scrappy outfit on their small floor, they may give the Bulldogs quite a tussle. In the preliminary contest, the Buckingham girls will endeavor to knock off the Morrisville lassies to win their first league engagement since they journeyed the circuit last year. They nearly accomplished this trick in both their previous games with Southampton and Bristol, but were unfortunate in securing only a tie with the Canines and losing to Bristol. But this may be their night. If the Morrisville Starlings win, they will hop into a first place tie with Bristol.

When Coach Claude Lodge's Southampton Greyhounds encounter the quintet of Bill Dougherty's Jenkintown High outfit this evening, it will mark the first time a Lower Bucks County school has clashed with the Drakes since Dougherty took them over last season. Of course they met the Morrisville Bulldogs in the first round of the P. I. A. A. playoffs last year, but that was not scheduled. They, too, will play a J. V. game at 7:30.

In the only other tilt involving a Lower Bucks County school tonight, the Cardinal and Grey five will take the road for their contest this evening. They are scheduled to cross the river into alien territory at Bordentown, N. J.

MANHATTAN DROPS GAME TO GOODWILL QUINTET

Twenty-two points by Punkie Zeffries failed to aid the Manhattan Soap Company five last night on the Italian Mutual Aid court as it dropped an overtime decision to the Goodwill Fire Company team, 51-40.

Zeffries scored seven field goals and eight fouls out of nine tries to amass his total of points. It was his scoring which started off the fuse to enable his team to deadlock the fire-fighters in regulation time.

With a minute remaining to be played the firemen had a three point lead over the soap-makers. But Clyde Betts shaved the lead by scoring from the center of the floor. Then on a pass from Harkins, Betts again counted under the net to give the Manhattaners a one-point lead.

The lead looked good with less than thirty seconds left but Gilliard received a pass from Profy and Betts hooked him for a foul. It was Betts' fourth foul of the tilt and he left the game. Gilliard made good on the foul throw and the score was deadlocked.

In the extra five minute period, the Swain street boys scored twelve points and were led by Dickie Lukens who scored three field goals. The losers scored only one point in the extra period.

High scorers for the winning combination were Hughes, Gilliard and Profy with Tullio doing excellent work at the guard position.

DEVER EXPECTS BOUT ON TRENTON CARD SOON

Lenny Dever, local lightweight who started in local A. A. U. rings, expects a spot on the next pro card at Trenton.

Dever, who is now under the management of Sammy Mofo, did quite a lot of pro fighting out in the mid-West, and in Buffalo, N. Y.

In his last start, he won a decision over Mame Cicero, former National Amateur Champ.

He boasts of a good record, winning twelve, and dropping two decisions, before hurting his hand. Dever is being trained by Sammy Mofo.

CLOSE FRAY ENDS WITH SCORE OF 50 TO 43

The Grundy five failed to maintain an early lead it had built over the St. Ann's A. quintet and lost the final decision, 50-43, in a closely played fray.

The woolen twisters went to work early on the first half champions and had a ten-point lead at the end of the first quarter. As the second period started, the St. Ann's forces went to work and at half time, the purple and gold were leading, 22-19.

The Saints increased this margin in the third session but in the last period, the Grundymen staged a rally which cut into the Wood streeters' big lead but it just wasn't enough for victory.

Joe Sack, newly acquired player of the Grundy team, gave a fine impression by scoring three double-doubles and sunk in five out of five fouls. Joe Burke had five field goals and a free shot to lead the losers in scoring.

Rocco Sagolla and Spade Spadacino stood out in the St. Ann's victory. Neither of these did any exceptional scoring but were main cogs in the passing and defense.

Thursday night, Falls Alumni meets A. O. H. and Celtics play Rohm and Haas.

'RED' MCCARTHY HEADS SUBURBAN SPORTSWRITERS

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 17.—At the fourth annual meeting of the Philadelphia Suburban Sports Writers' Association, yesterday, Felix (Red) McCarthy, Norristown sports writer, was elected president to succeed A. Russell Thomas, local sports editor and newspaper correspondent.

Other officers elected: Vice-president, Harry (Doc) Dilser, Pottstown; secretary, Joseph Ojober, Phoenixville; treasurer, Hugh (Butch) McDevitt, West Chester; directors, A. Russell Thomas, Doylestown; Bill Conner, Darby; Hal Keating, Ardmore; Wilmer Cressman, Norristown, and Fred Wilson, Chester.

Plans are under way for the annual banquet of the association to be held in Pottstown in April at the Elks Home. The association will stage a ladies' night party at the Valley Forge Country Club on February 15.

The association's outstanding project of the year, a four-county basketball championship tournament for the independent title will get started March 13. It is expected this year that more than seventy teams will compete in Bucks, Montgomery, Chester and Delaware counties.

Cornwells Woman Leaves Property to Husband for Life

With the exception of a bequest of $150 to the Quakertown Trust Company in trust to provide payments to the Union Cemetery of Tohickon Church at Weiser, the $3500 personal and $4500 real estate holdings of Harvey S. Haring, Perkaskie, will be inherited by a widow, Missouri Haring. Following her death, various relatives will share the estate. Samuel F. (Sover) Perkaskie, was named executor. Real estate consists of a house, at Sixth and Race streets.

Two sons, Russell S. Heist, Philadelphia, and Elmer S. Heist, Zion Hill, will inherit the $2500 real estate holdings of their mother, Ida C. Heist, of Springfield township.

Mrs. Jennie A. Detweiler, 11 Fourth street, Perkaskie, will inherit the $8000 personal estate of her husband, Preston S. Detweiler, of Perkaskie. She was also named executrix.

Mrs. Laura W. Ely, widow of a late well-known Doylestown business man, William P. Ely, left a personal estate of $14,000 and real estate valued at $4,000, according to her will probated in the Register of Wills' office here.

The will, which was executed October 30, 1931, named Frank W. Ely, well-known Doylestown merchant, and his sister, Mrs. Florence K. Schlichter, executors. Mrs. Ely directed that her estate be equally divided between her son and daughter. Mrs. Ely died December 31, 1933.

Sallie T. Merchant, of Upper Makefield township, who named Edward Merchant, of Pineville, executor, left a personal estate of $1500. A son, Leonard W. Haviland, Jr., was bequeathed $1000. Harriet Z. Frew, mother of Mrs. Merchant, was bequeathed a diamond ring. Ruth Merchant was bequeathed silverware and jewelry. The residue of the estate will be inherited by the testatrix's husband.

Arthur H. James Takes Oath As Governor of Pa. Today

one solitary lapse in half a century of GOP predominance.

Sixty-eight special trains poured their thousands into the capital to augment the thousands of others who came by automobile, bus, and plane. The inaugural parade, replete with its traditional color and pageantry, wound its way for hours past the inaugural stand from which Governor

James reviewed it. An estimated 35,000 took part in the procession.

Both the inauguration ceremonies and the parade which followed were broadcast over a state-wide radio hookup. Overhead, National Guard planes roared an aerial greeting to the new Chief Executive.

Once sworn in and the inaugural lost no time in taking over the reins of government which Governor Earle relinquished. One of his first official acts as Governor was to send to the Senate his Cabinet appointments, three of which he announced last night.

Following that Governor James is host at the executive mansion at a buffet supper with the Inauguration Day ceremonies topped off by the Inaugural Ball at which Governor James and his daughter, Miss Dorothy James, the State's new First Lady, will lead the grand march.

Governor James came into office facing almost identically the same problems which confronted his Democratic predecessor in 1935 when the election of Governor Earle on the heels of the Roosevelt landslide of '32 brought a temporary end to 44 years of Republican rule. These problems were unemployment, relief, anthracite, and taxation.

The seriousness of the relief situation, with the State's relief rolls at their highest in years and a $40,000,000 relief deficit already announced, was recognized by the new Administration even before the inauguration of Governor James. Completing the action begun when the Legislature reconvened two weeks ago for a one-day session, the House met last night and passed a stop-gap appropriation of $12,000,000. Four companion bills permit the transfer of $34,000,000 from special funds and it is out of this the initial relief appropriation and further deficiency relief appropriations will be forthcoming. Following House passage, the bills were sent to the Senate for final action. Within the next four months the Legislature must draw up a relief appropriation for the next biennium, estimated at $200,000,000.

The inauguration of the James Administration brought to an end four of the most hectic years in the State's political history. As the Earle Administration went out of power, a Dauphin County Grand Jury was investigating its official acts.

By Everett C. Gerry

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 17.—(INS)—Mild, bespectacled Arthur Horace James of Plymouth, Luzerne County, today takes the oath of office as Pennsylvania's 34th Governor.

Promptly at the stroke of noon he ascends the huge wooden inaugural stand erected at the foot of the Capitol steps and receives the solemn oath from Chief Justice John W. Kephart of the State Supreme Court.

In a brief but highly dramatic ceremony Superior Court Judge James, who once worked as a breaker boy in an anthracite coal mine, inherits the authority of retiring Gov. George H. Earle, Pennsylvania's first Democratic Chief Executive in four decades.

For thousands of onlookers, administration of the oath was viewed as the climax of a busy day. For others, the Inaugural Parade, a glittering review of military and civilian units, and colorful events of afternoon and evening, were attractions.

Threat of cold, cloudy weather and even snow flurries failed to diminish the enthusiasm of the Inauguration through made up of visitors from all of the Commonwealth's 67 counties.

With more than 50,000 visitors thronging its streets, Harrisburg was keyed to a tempo it hasn't experienced in years. Hourly, the crowd increased until police predicted a gathering of nearly 100,000 would witness the ceremonies.

Sixty-eight special trains brought thousands of visitors for a demonstration expected to last far into the night.

Indicative of the heavy travel, trains pulled into the capital at the rate of one every seven minutes after eight a. m. Special police were pressed to keep the platforms clear.

Over snow-banked highways and by automobile, bus and plane came additional numbers. Hotels in the downtown district were jam-packed with humanity, and cots were set up to care for the over-flow.

Hundreds of visitors made their headquarters in nearby communities. A number sought accommodations in York, Lancaster, Hershey, and Carlisle.

Jokingly, Republican State Chairman James F. Torrance estimated the crowd at more than 100,000 because he felt certain there were at least that number of job seekers.

The Inaugural Parade numbered probably 35,000 marchers and contained delegations from approximately 60 counties.

It was divided into three major sections—the military in the vanguard, then delegations from the counties, and finally the Young Republicans of Pennsylvania.

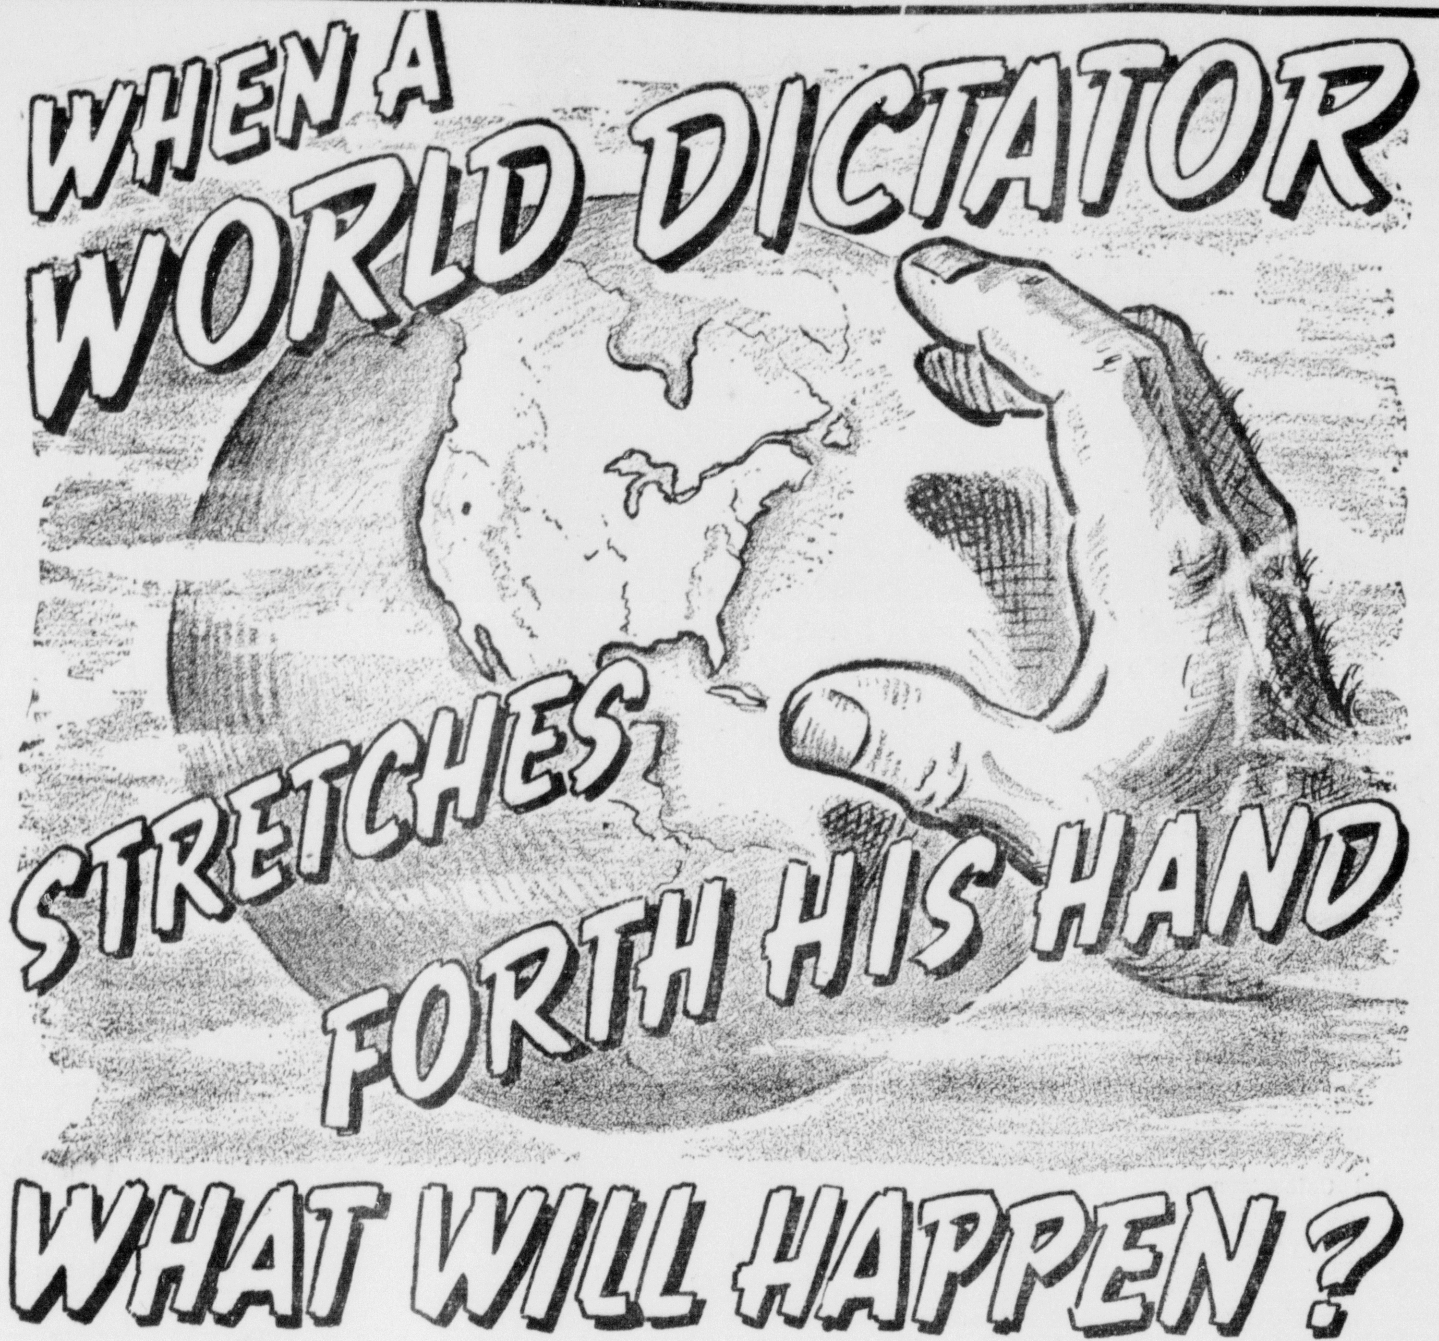

The column formed at 12th and State streets, about a dozen blocks from the Capitol, with Maj. Gen. Edward C. Shannon, Grand Marshal, at the head. Close behind came a detail of Harrisburg motorcycle police and a mounted troop of State Motor Policemen.

Brig. Gen. Edward Martin of Washington, Governor James' choice for Adjutant-General, was chief of staff for General Shannon. In command of the first division troops was Brig. Gen. Edward J. Stackpole, Jr., of Harrisburg.

Six airplanes droned overhead as the units began to form.

With an estimated 6,000 persons in line, Philadelphia claimed to have the largest delegation. Music from 200 drum and bugle corps enlivened the demonstration.

Chester and Bucks counties, oldest in the order of their founding, were in the van of the county groups. Philadelphia is followed.

Along with you and millions of other men and women, H. G. WELLS, the celebrated author of "WAR OF THE WORLDS," has pondered this burning question.

It brings up many others, such as:

Will there soon be another "WORLD WAR TO END WAR"...and another...and another... until finally there is a war that does end war?

With dictators screaming and smashing their way to power...civilization recoiling in fright... will there be a smash-up of dictatorships?

Are the Governments of the Earth, with their wars...dissensions...hatreds...rivalries...and brawling, now on the road to a single World State?

Can there be an ideal...a plan...a program... or a personality mighty enough to unify all of mankind into one nation under one flag?
